Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

In the old days when there were stage coaches drawn by four or six horses as the case might be, when bad men roamed the hills, when any day some "wuthless cuss" might still strike it rich out in the tall manzanita, the ceremonies of birth, marriage and death had a strong savor, or flavor, if you like, of rugged and old-time custom. This annecdote herewith told is only more or less true. We do not vouch for it save to say in a general way that it is founded on fact, fact somewhat amazing to our modern view of what is right and proper.

Grandpa Gummels had passed away. As was the custom in the gay nineties and the frisky eighties, someone must sit up with the corpse during the night. Just why such a custom and what its origin, no one inquired. Young people were usually chosen for the duty. It was supposed to have a chastening effect on high spirits and the Old Adam which in those days afflicted all young people. Sitting up with a dead person after midnight illustrated the old adage: "Sic transit mundis," or whatever the quotation is, and impressed on the youg watchers the fact that death does actually occur and put an end to all human activity, and it behooved the young to behave accordingly, improve each shining hour, and to labor in the Lord's vineyard without cutting up any didoes while about it.

So Sybil Woodson and Beth Dodson, respectively 18 and 19 years old and the best of friends were asked to sit up with departed Granpa Gummels They arrived at his house at 8 o'clock with their tatting. Grandpa was stretched on a bed beneath a clean sheet in the "front room." The two girls had not seen each other for a couple of days and they were full of chatter, in subdued tones of course, in respect to the third and silent party. They busily engaged in their needle work. While along about midnight sitting up with a dead person did give a kind of eerie sensation, on the whole the occasion was one of sad pleasure, a last service to Grandpa Gummels whom they knew well when he was ther kind and living neighbor.

Now Grandpa Gummels had been blessed with a decisive nose, large and commanding. In fact the strong will behind his generous nose had carried him to eminence in community affairs. In his younger days like the immortal Cyrano, he had had fist fights over insults to his emphatic and predominating nose. Now his face was covered with a heavy folded cloth, which must at intervals be wrung out and rinsed in a solution left there by the undertaker. There were no "morticians" in those days. It was the duty of Sybil and Beth to attend to this little chore and that was about all they had to distract them from their low voiced chatter and their tatting.

With needles flying and tongues softly wagging time sped fast. Beth glancing at the clock exclaimed: "Dear me, its time to rinse that cloth again." Accordingly she rose and lifted the cloth from Grandpa Gummels' face. She paused as she lifted the cloth and studied the features in surprise. "Beth look here," she murmured. Beth sprang to her side. "Look at his nose." said Sybil, "Do you see what I see?" Beth saw. The nose was distinctly bent in a southerly direction. It pointed toward the left cheek bone. The heavy wet cloth had found the nose all too pliant.

"Bend it up," advised Beth. Sybil delicately tweaked the proud old probosis, but it sagged slowly back to its near recumbent pose. They watched its slow descent with dismay. "What shall we do?" asked Sybil in near panic. But practical Beth had thought of something. "Bend it the other way and put the cloth on," said Beth so this was done. The nose was pointed north and the freshened cloth was placed over the corpses face before the stubborn feature could spring back to its southerly pointing.

It was a heavy responsibility placed on these young shoulders. The nose of Grandpa Gummels must point directly toward the zenith when sorrowing relatives and neighbors viewed him next day at the funeral. If anything happened to that important member, if it should slant either one way or the other, if it did not offer in death as it had for four score years of life, ts defiant challenge to the world, the flesh and the devil, Grandma Gummels, as Sybil put it, "would be awful mad."

So between them, by lifting the cloth at frequent intervals and delicately manipulating it, they coaxed the commanding eminence back to its normal upright posture. With a great sigh of relief they welcomed Grandma Gummels, when she came down in the morning. They held their breath while the bereaved old lady gently lifted the cloth and critically examined the beloved countenance. Grandma's eyes filled with tears. "He had a beautiful nose," she said.

PLAYGROUND IN PIONEERS PARK OPENED TODAY

The Co-Ordinating Council now have $211.70 in their playground fund the last donation of $2.50 coming from the Neighbors of Woodfraft lodge. Del Heinrich, recreational director, will come up from Berkeley Thursday and start playground activities on Monday in Pioneers Park. The park will present a delightful place for youngsters through out the summer or until August 25.

Parents and children are urged to visit the park and cooperate with the council and playground director in making this a most successful season. All types of recreation will be presented. A soft ball team is to be formed, tennis will be played for a tournament. There will be story telling for the smaller youngsters, besides many others interesting plans.

NEVADA CITY RADIO PROGRAM A SUCCESS

The Nevada City Chamber of Commerce gave a most pleasing program over radio station KFRC in San Francisco at 10:45 yesterday forenoon. Present to make the short address were Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen, DeWitt Nelson, Tahoe national forest; A. H. Willard, captain fish and game commission; and H. F. Sofge, chamber secretary. The group talked over the Northern Neighbors program and gave a splendid boost for Nevada City and county. Already some results are being obtained from the campaign advertising the beauties and advantages of this district to home seekers and sportsmen.

EIGHT GIRLS GRADUATE IN CAMPTONVILLE

CAMPTONVILLE, June 19. — Graduation exercises of the Camptonville Union Grammar School were held Saturday evening in the auditorium of the loca Masonic Hall with a large attendance of parents and friends. The program included an address from Pedro Osuma, Principal of the Marysville Union High School District and Mrs. Agnes Weber Meade, superintendent of school of Yuba county. This was the first graduation ever held that there were no high school graduates and the first one that the entire graduating class of the grammar school was all girls. The diplomas were presented to the class of eight girls by Judge A. M. Cleveland. During his address Mr. Osuna announced the promotion of Miss Lesta Joubert, local high school teacher, to the staff of the Marysville Union high school at Marysville, stating that a male teacher had been engaged to teach the local high school. The new term opens July 1. The local high school will now have the largest attendance since it began several years ago, 22 students. The following constitute the graduation class: Lois Butz, Ruth Chatfield, Cynthia Church, Cora Olson, Lois Olson, Mary Alice Reed, Guyla Tabler, and Etta Zornes.

POVERTY HILL MINE

Army Adams of Grass Valley and superintendent of the Poverty Hill gravel mine near LaPorte, has 30 men employed. San Francisco interests are developing the property. Tailings from operations are stored on the property.

J. V. Hubbard, who has been in St. Francis hospital in San Francisco about a month with an injured knee suffered in an auto accident, was able to return home yesterday. He will walk with a crutch for about a month.

ROBERT HENDRICKS TO ADDRESS ROTARY CLUB

Robert J. Hendricks is program chairman for the weekly meeting of Nevada City Rotarians Thursday and will narrate some of the exciting experiences he has had in his work as mining engineer in this and foreign countries. Hendricks has worked in remote sections of the wild north country, and other parts of the globe; and promises the Rotarians a "story" trip through pioneer regions without the physical discomforts attendant upon an actual journey through them.

MINOR HEIRS PROTECTED BY NEW STATUTE

Much needed protection and supervision in the handling of funds awarded to minors by court compromise or judgment has been provided in new legislation signed by Governor Olson it was pointed out yesterday by Paul Vallee, president of the State Bar.

The laws, sponsored and guided through legislative sessions by the State Bar, provide that when money awarded to a child exceeds $2000 a general guardian must be appointed and placed under bond to administer the funds as a trustee. As an alternative, the court may order the money deposited in a bank, to be withdrawn only upon written consent of a superior court judge, Vallee declared.

"These laws should prove an effective means of preventing the squandering of funds that were intended to be used for the benefit of children to whom they were awarded," the bar president said. "In the past there have been many instances in which the child actually received no use of the money awarded by the court in settlement of claims held by the minor."

In the event the compromise award or judgment is less than $2000, the new laws provide that it is discretionary for a superior court judge to order appointment of a general guardian, require deposit in a bank or trust company subject to withdrawal under court order, or any other arrangement the court considers will best protect the child.

These laws were included among a group of nearly fifty sponsored by the State Bar in an effort to provide necessary improvements in the state's judicial system and to simplify court proceedings.

MOTHER HEARS FROM SON AT S. F. PRESIDIO

Mrs. Walter Weege received a letter from her son, Carlos Casmore, at the Presidio, San Francisco upon his arrival from Camp Lewis, Washington. With 1,000 soldiers of 30th Infantry, he made the trip back by the coast route. The group walked 92 miles with light packs during the trip. They were given a show in each town they stopped over in. The trip was through Camp Murray, Wash., Eugene and Grants Pass, Oregon; Eureka, Ukiah, Hopland, Cloverdale, Healdsburg, Santa Rosa, Sonoma, Petaluma. On the 20th Casmore will leave for Camp Ord near Monterey remaining until July first then to the Presidio at Monterey to help train C. M. T. C. boys. He expects to be home for a 20 day visit in September and then will leave for Hawai where he will be stationed for two years.

MORE ORE IN IDAHO MARYLAND

Idaho Maryland Mines Corporation Grass Valley, California, reports an operating profit of $293,160 for the first quarter of 1939, before deductions for depletion, deprciation and federal income taxes. According to the letter to stockholders, extensive development work and the incidental handling of a considerably increased tonnage of development rock have reduced current profits somewhat, but the work has disclosed additional ore bodies and extended known deposits, thus adding materially to ore reserves. The regular monthly dividend of 5 cents on capital stock will be paid June 21 to stock of record May 10. E. L. Oliver, 351 California street, San Francisco, is president of the corporation.

Lee Hansen of Oakland spent the last week end in Nevada City. He resided here about two years and is anxious to return here to reside.

OLD TIMER HERE VISITING SCENES OF HIS YOUTH

Dennis Murphy and daughter, Mrs. Louie Wright and two children came up from San Francisco Friday and remained until today visiting Mr. and Mrs. Howard Burr. Mr. Murphy worked in Nevada City, Washington and Graniteville 46 years ago. On Sunday the group revisited Washington and Graniteville. He was employed in the Eaglebird mine when it was just started near Washington and the Voss sawmill. Near Graniteville he worked on the flumes to Bowman. Many Chinese were about Washington and were employed at the Eaglebird. There was a Chinese hoistman. When the mill burned one Chinese died in the fire.

While at Graniteville he came to Nevada City and Doctor C. W. Chapman's mother, also a dentist, filled a tooth which he still has. The next day Mrs. Chapman's husband pulled a tooth, anesthetics being unknown then.

At Graniteville Sunday Murphy met hotelman, Bill McLane, whom he roomed with when he worked nearby. A story is told about the healthy climate of Graniteville. One old timer stated it was so healthy that they had to hang a newly arrived undertaker to start the cemetery near the little town.

Murphy worked in the Providence mine, a part of the old Champion holdings, while he lived in Nevada City. He found many familiar sights about the town the National Hotel, post office, New York hotel. He has a twinkling eye and firm step of a man much younger than he is and next year he plans to return and spend a month.

CHAMBER TO MEET

The Nevada City Chamber of Commerce will meet tomorrow evning in the city hall. President Gallagher urges all members to attend as there are several matters of importance to be considered.

SCHOOL FOR FIRE CONTROL ENDS

Due to storm over Friday the first day and forenoon of second day instruction for the 30 novices in fire control at the Tahoe Ukiah CCC camp was held indoors. E. L. Stone conducted these classes. Crew boss training was also given as most of the men taking the course are observers of fires where they are stationed. They were given training in fire danger rating. During the afternoon of the last day E. Baxter, in charge of fire control for the Tahoe national forest took the group of boys to an old fire line and discussed fire control tactics. A mobile broadcasting outfit was at the camp the last day and the men were able to see the weather farecasting unit in actual operation.

P. P. Pitchlyn, assistant regional forester and C. A. Gustfsaw assistant chief of fire control were present for the sessions. E. L. Baxter had charge of the school and E. L. Stone had charge of the camp.

TRACER BULLETS BARRED

It is now unlawful to have in possession or fire or cause to be fired any tracer bullet or tracer charge on to or across national forest land, according to information received by officials of the Tahoe national forest at Nevada City. This new ruling is caused by amendments to rules and regulations for the occupancy, use, protection, and administration of the national forests just issued by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

WINDOW BOX

A balcony of lovely potted flowers is not an impossibility in Nevada City as proven by Mrs. Carl G. Genter who has an apartment in the third story of the National Hotel. Seagull weather vanes are placed at intervals along the iron balcony and the huge California giant and box variety petunias are a delightful display from the street or inside the hotel.

Mrs. Frank Hoagland and children, Jimmie and Margo, Carroll Coughlan and Misses Jean McEwen and Elinore Hoagland of Los Angeles motored to Lake Tahoe Sunday. The Misses McEwen and Hoagland remained for a vacation at the lake. Mrs. Hoagland came over from Nevada state and is visiting her mother, Mrs. Emma Foley.

TOP OF RED FIR ABLAZE IS CAUSE OF ALARM

Believe it or not Fire Dispatcher E. L. Stone of the Tahoe national forest reports a raging fire in the top of a red fir tree in the Parker Pass area! It is on a summit west of Lake Tahoe and south of Twin Peaks. The Bunker Hill guard called at five o'clock this morning and Stone sent two men from the Lake Tahoe guard station to the scene of fire. The blaze is holdover from the last electrical storm and it is now indicated the blaze is dying. Forecasts for today and tomorrow are light electrical storms over the Tahoe national forest area.

STATE SAVES 75 MILLIONS FROM OLSON SPENDING

SACRAMENTO, June 19.—Seventy-five millions of dollars in new taxes proposed by Governor Olson were prevented during the legislative session, State Senator Jerrold Seawell, president pro tem of the senate, said today, in reviewing the work of the "economy bloc" of which he is a prominent members.

"All the verbal abuse and threats by Governor Olson were of no avail to swerve us from what we considered our duty to the people of California," Senator Seawell said.

"After careful and thorough investigation, we found that the sixty-three millions of dollars in new and additional taxes Governor Olson asked the legislature to vote, were not necessary for the welfare of California or its people. Therefore, we refused to vote this wasteful tax program.

"We gave far more study to the budget than Governor Olson's own officials, and in the end we cut it approximately sixteen million dollars. This represents another saving, as every person in California would have had to pay this amount in direct or indirect taxes.

"We fought against extremes in legislation, against a scheme for compulsory health insurance opposed by almost all doctors, against giving too much power to either labor or capital and we were the means of uncovering radicalism and favoritism in the ranks of the State Relief Administration in the face of Director Anderson's bland assurances that none of these things existed.

"Now that the legislature nears its end, I wish to say that the members of the economy bloc can go home to their constituents and say 'we have kept the faith'. Governor Olson, who campaigned for election as governor on a platform of lower taxes and economy in government, certainly cannot face the people, for his every effort during the legislative session has been to violate his pledges in at regard."

CAMP BRADLEY GIVES LAVA CAP NINE BEATING

The Lava Cap baseball nine played Camp Bradley CCC boys on the Pioneers Park diamond yesterday afternoon. The local boys lost to Camp Bradle yby a score of 14 to 10. In the first half the Lava Cap boys made a splendid showing.

BEN BOST MUST SERVE SENTENCE

Ben Bost, miner, prospector and assayer of this city, must serve the sentence imposed on him, five years in prison for falsifying affidavits to the San Francisco mint. Judge St. Sure, stated he was convinced from the probation report that Bost had been a highgrader for fifty years. He did hold out hope, however, for an early parole. In addition to the term of five years in prison, Bost must also pay a fine of $5,000.

VALENTINE TO ANSWER

Calvin Valentine, accused of rape by Mrs. Roberta Gould Laffen, was today held to answer in the superior court following his preliminary hearing before Acting Justice of the Peace Miles Coughlin.

Attorney Carroll Searls and wife returned to Nevada City today from a week spent at Lake Tahoe. They came up from the bay district and are spending some time in this city.

FIREMEN ADD TO PIONEERS PARK BARBECUE STOVE

Nevada City firemen spent Sunday at Pioneers Park enlarging the stone stove and grill in the beautiful park on the eastern edge of the tract. A barbecue stove was built on one side of the enlarged stove and a grill on the other and will stake care of good sized crowds who wish to hold picnics or dinners in the open. All materials and time were donated. Mrs. Herbert Hallett prepared and served a lunch to the hungry group of workers.

R. R. Goyne stated today that the firemen plan to hold their next camp stew in the grove. It is also believed the Womans Civic Club are planning to hold their next meeting there and they will have the honor of the first local organization to use the stoves, picnic tables and benches.

The firemen working on the stove yesterday were R. R. Goyne, Herbert Hallett, Nick Sandow, Jack Reynor, Ted Sigourney, Elza Kilroy and Tony Rore, the latter a member of the park commission.

RURAL SCHOOL BOARDS HEAR STATE OFFICIAL

The annual rural school district trustees convention was held in the justice court rooms at the court house all day Saturday with Superintendent of Schools Walter Carlson presiding. More than half of the districts were represented at the meeting. Walter Morgan, of the state department of public instruction, spoke on school budget laws and preparation of budgets which must be made by all school districts and presented to Superintendent Carlson for submission to the board of supervisors. This work is to determine the amount of money to be raised to carry on school work throughout the next year.

THREE ACCUSED OF EXTORTION

Andy Zales, Harlan Hineske and William Johnston are being held in the county jail on charges of extortion filed by George Vankoff of Washington Sheriff Carl Tobiassen was questioning the men this afternoon as the Nugget went to press.

Vankoff alleges that the three men threatened to kill him unless he produced $600 for them by 8:30 o'clock this morning. The threat was made last week when they appeared at his home in Washington and demanded money gold or other valuables amounting to $600. As soon as they left Vankoff phoned the sheriff's office and Deputy Sheriff Carl Larsen intercepted the trio at the CCC camp at White Cloud. One of them was carrying a 32 calibre rifle which he yielded to the deputy.

MISSING FISHERMEN RETURN EARLY TODAY

Deputy Sheriff Carl Larsen this morning wearily suggested that Nevada City anglers who go fishing Sunday and remain out all night should make preliminary arrangements with their families. This morning at 3 o'clock he received telephone call from a member of the family of a missing fisherman and immediately started out to find him and his associates.

The three were Myers Mobley, L. E. Noyes and Louie Kopp. It developed later that they had been stuck in the mud overnight and were unable to return from Lake Bowman where they had gone. Larsen says the first clew found of their whereabouts was at Bowmans where the care taker said they at stopped at 6 o'clock this morning to ask the time of day. He thinks he passed them while he were getting an extremely early breakfast at the N. I. D. cookhouse.

BOUNDARY MINE

The headframe and hoist at the Boundary mine are being torn down and the old tramway will be replaced with a new one and ore bins are to be built in preparation for active operations as soon as the shaft is repaired. It is thought the shaft is caved in for 100 feet. This material is being rapidly cleared on a three shift basis. The old mill will also be reconditioned.

General Johnson Says:

(Presented below is an interesting and significant expression of viewpoint regarding current Democratic politics by Hugh S. Johnson, intimate friend of President Roosevelt in the early years of the New Deal and the first N. R. A. Administrator. General Johnson's article is reprinted from the Scripps-Howard newspapers, which also have supported President Roosevelt and the New Deal.)

Why should Jack Garner—or any other established Democrat who tosses his hat into the ring for the 1940 presidential nomination of his party—be called a "back-stabber?" Above all, why should Harold Ickes do the calling?

The idea seems to be that it is "back-stabbing" because the great giver of all things good, Mr. Roosevelt, may want the nomination himself. But he has not said so and even if he had, there is no more certain single constitutional right of every native born American citizen than to propose himself for the presidency. Does only Mr. Roosevelt now have that right?

He isn't even a Democrat—or, if he is, it is of no such variety as Thomas Jefferson or Andrew Jackson would recognize. He is no nearer being a Democrat than, for example, is Mr. Ickes or Mr. Henry Wallace—both of whom have been some kind of Republican for the greater part of their lives.

It is perfectly clear why such political hybrids as Mr. Ickes want to stop the nomination of Mr. Garner, or any other Democrat. If a Democrat ever became president, there would be the greatest exodus from Washington of many semi-Socialists, crackpot economists and pink-to-scarlet political experimenters that has ever happened since the Pied Piper turned both rats and children out of Hamlin.

It is precisely the economic antics of such as these that have kept our tried and proved profits system in such a state of uncertainty that it hasn't been able to get back to work to employ millions of jobless, when every reason except their existence has shreiked that it is ready and straining to go. There is a good deal of puzzling over the question of what policy any Fourth New Deal opposition could adopt to appeal to the electorate and offset the effect of billions of dollars of spending to buy the votes of the principal great groups of beneficiaries—farmers, Negroes and the unemployed. I think this alone would be enough—a promise that these irresponsible economic tinkerers would step from control of government.

Third term for the President? Sure, they want a third term. It is their only hope. Under any Republican or any recognizable Democrat their end would come. Not one of them could be elected dog-catcher. The only man in the whole United States who would keep them on and who has so much as a Chinaman's chance of election is Franklin Roosevelt. They will fight for his nomination as a drowning man fights for breath and no common sense can blame them.

They are apparently the only brand of political phenomenon that the President wishes to have around him. Yet there is scarcely a responsible Democrat in the party who approves them and to whom their presence and preference are not almost unbearable strains on party loyalty. The President has suggested that all Democrats who feel this strain should get out of the party. If they did, its nomination would be worth nothing either to Mr Roosevelt or anybody else.

Undoubtedly Mr. Roosevelt could force his own renomination and carry his crowd on his back also. But if it came to such forcing plus purging of stalwarts like Garner, as Mr. Ickes seems to threaten, the Republicans will have so good a chance that perhaps even they cannot, as they did in 1936, make enough blunders to lose the election. When Mr. Garner is asked threateningly whether if not nominated he will bolt, he has a right to ask whether if not nominated Mr. Roosevelt will bolt. Either action would elect a Republican. I know experienced observers who believe that this is exactly Roosevelt strategy, on the theory he will leave a mess no Republican could clean up—and he himself re-elected with a new party and almost by acclamation in 1944.

Undoubtedly the legislature will be called into special session later in the year or the first of next year to handle the matter of relief. As we write these lines it is almost certain that the legislature will only appropriate relief money for one year rather than for the biennium and a special session will be necessary for the purpose of making an additional appropriation for relief. Thus far no definite relief program has been submitted to the legislature and the majority of the members of both houses believe that to hand over to the relief administration a blank check for $73,000,000 or $110,000,000 is entirely wrong regardless of the fact that blank checks have been handed out to previous administrations. The majority of the members of both houses believe that some definite program should be offered and the money allocated on that basis so that the taxpayers can have some definite assurance that their money will go directly for relief of needy persons. Your assemblyman is opposed to the blank check idea because there is too much of a chance to play politics with relief. That was demonstrated in the last national election.

A. G. Thurman

We can assure those on relief that any wild stories in the radical press that the legislators want to starve those on relief is fiction of the worst type. Your legislators are concerned about the welfare of those on relief and want to know that the money they allocate for relief is spent for that purpose and that the administration payrolls are not padded for political purposes. No one will starve in California regardless of what the radical press would have those on relief believe.

The past week has been the most hectic in many years as far as the state assembly is concerned. Working under a call of the house from 10 a. m. Wednesday until 1 a. m. Friday a period of 39 hours, without sleep was somewhat unusual for even a newspaperman who is used to more or less late hours. However it wasn't so much the lack of sleep as it was the extreme nervous strain and tension the members were under with several highly controversial bills up for consideration including the oil control bill. Two members collapsed during this period one being taken to a hospital and the other to his hotel. Another had to leave the assembly chamber for his hotel on a near collapse while others were near the verge of collapse.

During all of this period from Tuesday until Friday morning the assembly was working under the date of Tuesday, June 13, the cleck having been stopped on that date. This fiction in the matter of the day was necessary inasmuch as Tuesday was the last day in which the assembly could consider bills originating on its side of the house. Friday afternoon under a series of roll calls and adjournments we caught up with Friday as from that day on senate bills were considered.

Next week this column will contain our final letter in which we will give a brief recapitulation of the session.

OPTIMO PROPERTY

Four men are employed at the old Optimo mine near Tyler. This is a gravel property and is in a district that has a heavy past production in gold.

MELVILL GRAVEL PROPERTY

Two shifts continue drill tests of gravel channels, some of the holes being about 50 feet apart. The work is being done in the Spring Creek district. A bus takes the men to and from San Juan for the different shifts.

LUCKY STRIKE PROPERTY

A. G. Grier and four men testing gravel on the Lucky Strike gravel property on Greenhorn Creek east of Nevada City. Grier took the property under option from L. Netz of Nevada City about two months ago. It was formerly owned by Mrs. Rose Jones.

A teacher was explaining the difference between the stately rose and the modest violet.

"A rose," she said, "is like a beautiful, richly-dressed woman, so proud she doesn't speak to anyone. But behind her is a small creature with bowed head—"

"Yes, miss," interrupted Tommy. "That's her husband"

AIRPLANES TO AID CONTROL OF FOREST FIRES

Aerial forest fire control in national forests of California will be carried on this summer with five airplanes just signed under contract by the forest service. Regional Forester S. B. Show announced that the planes, all privately owned, were contracted as part of the preparedness plan for what may prove to be one of this state's most dangerous fire seasons.

Three planes will operate for the 18 national forests from the Duck hangars at the Oakland airport near where the forest service supply base at Government Island is located. Another plane will be located at Pomona and the fifth ship will be based at Fresno airport. Each airplane is equipped to carry forest service supervisory personnel or supplies to forest fire camps.

Largest of the planes is a tri-motored Stinson with 780 horsepower and a payload capacity of 1860 pounds. The two other planes working from Oakland are a four-place Stinson Reliant cabin plane powered with a 320 horsepower motor and a Travelaire cargo ship with a 330 horsepower motor.

Both the Pomona and Fresno aerial fire control units are four-place Stinson Reliant cabin planes, 245 horsepower motor.

The contract airplanes are equipped to deliver any kind of fire line food and equipment by parachute. Past and current field experiments prove the efficient manner in which national forest oficfers are able to service fire camps in inaccessible mountain areas. Flying over fire camps, pilots can drop packaged cargo with common burlap parachutes.

In practical use of this method at the scenes of severe forest fires in northern California last summer little or no damage resulted to supplies dropped from less than 1000 feet above the ground. The Red Cap fire in Klamath National Forest was serviced with 80,000 pounds of supplies delivered by airplane.

Aerial delivery methods have been acclaimed invaluable in effecting earlier suppression of forest fires than could be expected from the use of pack animals in many backwoods sections. Although aerial cargo delivery is twice as costly as servicing fire fighters by pack mules or horses, results bear out the economy in saving extensive back-country timber areas from rapidly spreading fires.

Forest Service Patrol No. 1, the only airplane ever purchased by the forest service, is being assigned this month to Portland from the California region of the forest service where during the past year it has taken part in the development of all major experiments involving the use of aircraft in fire control. Many of the municipal airports in the state have at some time witnessed various exmental projects in the delivery of fireline supplies and other aerial fire control developments.

LEGAL NOTICE

ORDINANCE NO. 221.
ADOPTING THE UNIFORM BUILDING CODE OF THE PACIFIC COAST BY PREFERENCE.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NEVADA:

SECTION 1. Rules and regulations have been printed as a code in book form and known as the "Uniform Building Code of the Pacific Coast."

SECTION 2. The provisions of the Uniform Building Code issued by the Pacific Coast Building Officials Conference under date of October, 1928, and modified 1930 edition and published February, 1932, are hereby adopted for the construction of buildings in the City of Nevada.

SECTION 3. Three copies of said code have been filed for use and examination by the public in the office of the Clerk of said City.

SECTION 4. Every person violating the provisions of this ordinance and said code which is hereby adopted by reference shall, upon arrest and conviction thereof, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine in an amount not exceeding Three Hundred Dollars ($300.00), or by imprisonment not exceeding three (3) months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SECTION 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the expiration of thirty (30) days from its first publication.

SECTION 6. The City Clerk is directed to cause this ordinance to be published one (1) time after its passage, in the Nevada City Nugget, published and printed in said city, and said ordinance shall go into effect on the 20th day of July, 1939.

Adopted: June 15, 1939.

Ayes: Councilman, Hall, Penrose, Leiter.

Noes: None.

Absent: Councilman Nye and Davis.

Signed BENJ. HAL, Mayor.
Attest: GEO. H. CALANAN, City Clerk.

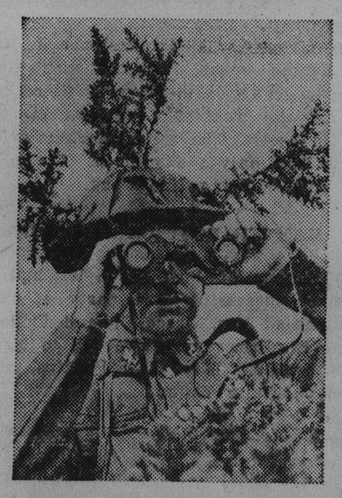
SAFETY PRECAUTIONS

The British government's new gas mask for children under two years of age as it was demonstrated recently in London. The mask has a bellows attached to furnish the baby with air.

FAWN DANCER

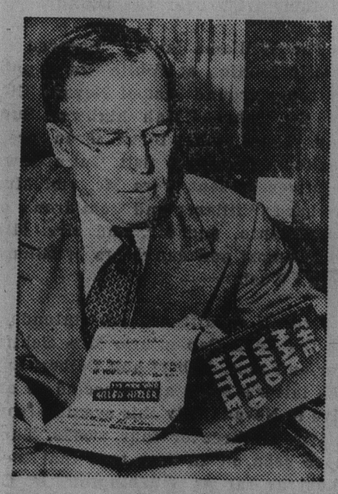
Faith Bacon, fan dancer, picked up a fawn, a crowd of spectators and a policeman as she strolled through New York's Park avenue recently. She was taken into police custody—but the publicity gag worked.

HIDDEN SOLDIER



The vegetation springing from this British soldier's helmet is for protective, not nutritive, purposes. The camouflaged helmet cover conceals him as he watches for the "enemy" during mimic warfare maneuvers. This type of camouflage is unusually effective, according to officers of His Majesty's army.

PUBLISHER THREATENED



George Palmer Putnam, publisher, and husband of the late Amelia Earhart, inspects a bullet-pierced copy of the book entitled "The Man Who Killed Hitler" and a death threat note which he received following publication of the book. The evidence was turned over to the police.

Mr. Henpeck (to boss)—"Sir, I think it's about time I got a raise."

Boss—"What are you talking about. We just put a raise in your envelope last week."

Mr. Henpeck—"Why doesn't my wife tell me abaut these things."

SALMON MINE

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hellings of Oakland visited Nevada City friends the latter part of last week Mr. Hellings is interested in the Keyroute ferry system in the bay district.

Dick Fischer returned Friday from Hercules where he has been visiting for some time with his sister.

ELECTRIC COOKING COSTS ½ AS MUCH AS YOU THINK!

NEW FAST 1939 ELECTRIC RANGE combines LOW COST, SPEED, SURE RESULTS

Because electric cooking has so many fine advantages you might think it to be too costly and that you cannot afford it. This is not true today. The new 1939 Electric Ranges puts electricity to work cooking food fast and economically. Electric Rates for cooking in your home have been dropping steadily for many years. Electric Cooking costs about half as much as you think.

Have you guessed an electric range is SLOW? — Guess Again. The new 1939 Electric Ranges are as fast or faster than any range you have ever used. Speed Units with variable heats cook all foods with all the speed you will ever care to use.

Have you guessed that electric cooking is DIFFICULT? — Guess Again. Electric ranges simplify cooking because of the miraculous automatic controls. Oven meals almost cook themselves.

Have you guessed electric cooking is EXPENSIVE? — Guess Again. Electric Rates for cooking in California are among the very lowest in the country. The average monthly cost for cooking for 42,000 electric range users by the P. G. and E. is $2.56.

Come in today and see the new 1939 Electric Ranges.
Prices are low and purchase terms exceptionally easy.

Eastern Star Picnics in "Garden of Eden"

Approximately fifty members of Eastern Star held an informal picnic yesterday in the "Garden of Eden," the beautiful lawn and gardens of Mr. and Mrs. John Eden on upper Pine street. Two long tables were set for the picnickers. Most of the members enjoyed both dinner and supper there. Cards were played and prizes awarded the winners.

Miss Adele Joerschke Weds Eugene Blackwell

The news of the wedding of Miss Adele Joerschke and Eugene Blackwell in Carson City, last Wednesday comes as a pleasant surprise to their many friends in the twin cities. They are on a honeymoon in the Pacific Northwest and expect to return this week.

The bride has been secretary of the Placer-Nevada Finance company in Nevada City over a year. The groom is a Grass Valley contractor. Upon their return they will reside in the old Joerschke home between Nevada City and Grass Valley, the brides mother having just completed a new home for herself on the same property.

Miss Helen Provine, who graduated from St. Marys business school in Grass Valley recently, has the position left vacant by the marriage of Mrs. Blackwell.

Surprise Party for Miss Alberta Bolton

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Bolton gave a party Saturday evening honoring the birthday of their daughter, Miss Alberta Bolton. Cards were enjoyed and scores were won by Mrs. Ethel Prisk, high for ladies while Ted Sinnock won high for men. A delicious luncheon with a beautifully decorated birthday cake was enjoyed at a late hour. Miss Bolton received many lovely gifts.

Present for the delightful evening entertainment were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sinnock and son, Bob, Mrs. Katzer and son, Mr. and Mrs. Zemple, all of Colfax; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Martin and son, Mrs. Ethel Prisk and son and daughter, Joyce and Bob, Bill Bertocini, Mr. and Mrs. John Bertelson, Grass Valley; Mrs. Oliver, Miss Bolton, Tommy Bolton and host and hostess.

Stockton Couple Wed by City Judge Coughlin

City Judge Miles Coughlin performed a marriage ceremony at 9:30 o'clock this forenoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Martz on Wet Hill. The contracting parties were James Irvin Baker and Ethel Louise Ferguson both of Stockton. Witnesses for the service were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Martz. Several close friends of the couple were present. The newlyweds departed for a honeymoon and will make their home in Stockton.

Miss Ethel Ross Weds Morten White

Miss Ethel Ross, daughter of Mrs. Bert Moody, of this city was united in marriage to Morton White formerly of Lompoc and now residing in Grass Valley. Rev. Carl Warner, retired district superintendent of the Methodist church came over from his home in Applegate to perform the ceremony. The beautiful and impressive service took place in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. R. Bonivert. Miss Hazel Jones was bridesmaid and Wayne Brown of Grass Valley was best man.

The charming bride has taught in Siskiyou and Monterey county schools. After a honeymoon the newly weds will reside on Town Talk. Mr. Warner is employed in the North Star mine.

PLENTY OF MONEY GIANNINI SAYS FOR SOUND LOANS

Survey of the administration's entire monetary and banking set up as authorized yesterday by the senate was warmly endorsed here today by L. M. Giannini, president of Bank of America.

"A real inquiry into the credit facilities actually available to all kinds of business will be an eye-opener to the general public, who appear to have been misled as to the advisability of such facilities No new banking organizations are needed at this time. Existing institutions are willing and anxious to advance operating funds to sound borrowers. It is the borrowers who are scarce.

"As for venture capital, there is an abundance of that, but the owners lack confidence in the immediate future because of continuing attacks and restrictions on business. Restore that confidence, and I am satisfied there would soon be an out pouring of capital for new enterprises and expansion that would launch us on a new and thrilling upsurge of business activity and employment," Giannni declared.

At the same time, he urged that the survey extend to overlapping government agencies in the field of banking. Particularly, he thought, serious study should be given to proposals which would change the functions of the Comptroller of the Currency, or even abolish the office, and the importance of establishing that office, which is the oldest financial administrative body in the government on an independent basis.

SPRAY MACHINE HERE

Agricultural Commissioner L. G. Lageson urges everyone with elm trees to get in touch with his office that the trees may be sprayed for elm beetle. The spray machine will be here only a day or so. The new outfit is doing fine work.

BANNER POST CARD PARTY

Banner Mt. Post, V. F. W., had a most successful card party at the home of Mrs. Grace Cleland Friday evenn. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Mabel Eagn, Mrs. Clara Phillips, and Mrs. Minnie Young.

COLEMAN AND CLARK COMPANY

Coleman and Clark have an option on gravel south of the Greenhorn Gold Mining Company and are testing values with small equipment. If values prove up they plan to install a larger plant.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Lane spent the week end in Oakland and celebrated Fathers Day by visiting Mrs. Lanes father. "Whispering Dick" stated he and Del Hamilton took in the fair on Treasure Island anw saw Sally Rand in their trips over the island.

The Williams family enjoyed a family reunion at White Cloud public camp ground east of Nevada City on the Tahoe Ukiah highway Sunday. There were forty seven present for a delightful visit. Out of town relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Williams and children of Sacramento, and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Comozi and daughters of Ellensberg. Wash.

Otto E. Schiffner, superintendent of the Lava Cap mines, Mrs. Schiffner and sons, Robert and Delbert and the latter's bride are expected to arrive in Nevada City this evening from a trip of three or four weeks. They have been on an auto tour that took them as far as Washington, D. C., New York world's fair and other points of interest.

Dick Gregory, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Gregory of Nevada City has gone to Sacramento to spend his vacation wth his uncle and aunt.

Mrs. Emily Neitert of Berkeley is spending a few days in Nevada City. She is attending to settling of an estate the property of her late relative, Mrs. Hoskins.

J. B. Canada came down from the Walker mine in Plumas county and spent the week end in Nevada City visiting friends.

BETTE DAVIS IN DARK VICTORY ON SCREEN THURS.

Among the more intriguing cinema metamorphoses of the past year is the current modernization of Miss Bette Davis.

After almost two years of being hidden away behind yards of petticoats and barricades of corset stays, Miss Davis' figure is being emancipated to the comparatively revealing freedom of modern gowns. Her personality is also being freed from the conventional-imposed shackles of Civil War and Gay Nineties periods.

In short, the heroine of "Jezebel" and "the Sisters" is once more an up to the year and minute girl. In "Dark Victory," her latest Warner Bros. picture, which opens next Thursday at the Nevada Theatre, she comes to the screen as a 1939 model heiress.

Orry-Kelly, the fashion designer who handled the exterior decoration details of the modernization, equipped Miss Davis with some eighteen gorgeous outfits. They run the style gamut from informal sports costumes to formal evening gowns. There's also a little item of a $25,000 sable coat which goes with one of the more elaborate evening ensembles.

Casey Robinson, who wrote the screen play version of the New York stage production by George Brewer, Jr., and Bertram Bloch, contributed bright, modern dialogue and up to date situations for the beautiful but ill fated young heiress. Art director Robert Haas built her an expensive but tasteful modern home and put the today touch to her surroundings. The rest, Miss Davis attended to.

ROBSON LANDS MUCH WANTED FUGITIVE

Kansas officers are expected tomorrow to take Hobart Hazen, alias Donald Carson back to face murder and robbery charges if Coffeyville, Kansas. Hazen was convicted on vagrancy charges several days ago and given a sixty day floater. He begged permission to remain four days longer and in that time Police Garfield Robson had a wire from Washington, D. C., criminal identification bureau, where he had sent Hazen's finger prints, asking him to hold the man.

VIRGINIA CITY'S DAY AT TREASURE ISLAND, JUNE 25

Virginia City folks, their friends and neighbors from points throughout the State of Nevada will take over on Treasure Island Sunday, June 25, for a celebration entirely fitting for this historic area where history was made in the bonanza days of mining.

Everyone from Governor E. P. Carville, who will head the delegation of visitors, right on along the line, is taking a keen interest in plans for Virginia City Day, and an excellent program of special entertainment has been arranged Ex-Governor Roswell Colcord of Carson City, now 102 years of age, is coming down to Treasure Island for the party, Senator Pat McCarran plans to join in, and if possible Senator Key Pittman will be on hand.

Typical of the Nevada district will be the gold panning demonstrations that will be put on by a veteran miner of the old days during the coming celebration, with a narrator explaining the various steps of the process.

The old "Sazerac Club" famous Liars' Organization that added much glowing color to the tales of early days in Virginia City, will be another event of the day, and a meeting of "E Clampus Vitus" unique mining country organization will also be held.

Reminiscent of early days will be the musical program to be offered in which pioneer day songs and melodies will be featured.

During the day headquarters for past and present residents of the district will be maintained in the Hall of Western States, where a general get-together will be in order.

Roy E. Swift arrived in Nevada City Saturday from Midas, Nev., where he was assayer and metallurgst for the cyanide plant of the Gold & Silver Circle Mines Inc. He has been awarded a research fellowship with the U. S. Bureau of Mines Northwest Experiment Station and the University of Washington in Seattle. He will leave Nevada City on June 24 for the northwest.

NEW HOMES

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Christensen have moved into their beautiful new modern home on East Broad street. They have rented the old home just south and on West Broad street.

Another nice new home noted during the week end is one being built by Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Berggren, local jewelers, on their farm west of Nevada City by T. W. Reynolds. Reynolds is also building the house of Mrs. Doris Foley on Main street. Both houses are five rooms, the latter will have a basement and furnace.

Mrs. Jack Sawyer of Kernville and Mrs. LeGrande of Willows were visiting friends in Nevada City today.
